ALISTAIR SMALL

ACC CPOCC | BA (Hons) MA

Alistair Small is a talented learning and development consultant who brings substantive experience from working in Sales Support, System Implementation, Sales Operations, Product Management and Learning & Development.

Alistair designs tailored training solutions for individuals and international teams to enable them to improve and meet their business objectives. A senior classroom instructor, Alistair passionately engages in interactive learnings whether they are delivered in person or virtually.

Over his career, Alistair has concentrated increasingly on Management / Leadership Development, Coaching and Facilitation. This is in addition to developing & delivering business critical curriculum for Sales, Operations and Management.

Alistair's style is open, warm, using humour and emotional intelligence to creating a safe space for learning, welcoming failure as an important tool to succeed and grow. He trained with Corporate Executive Board (CEB), Chartered Institute of Personal & Development (CIPD), Coaches Training Institute (CTI) and the Center of Right Relationship (CRR Global).

Alistair graduated from Lancaster University in the UK with an MA in Diplomacy & International Relations. He held EMEA roles for large multinational organisations in the UK and Germany such as General Physics and Level3 Communications.

Alistair moved to Germany in 2008 and enjoys the outdoor life (hiking, snowboarding) that living in the region affords him. He loves to travel to experience different cultures and explore new regions, with Patagonia, Easter Island, New Zealand & Hawaii being particular favourites.
